Case study

Keeping our communities safe with simple, proactive cloud video security

Creating spaces safe for residents, customers, and neighbors is top priority, and paramount to becoming a successful business. Whether running a commercial real estate enterprise or overseeing an affordable housing community, the first step is establishing safety and security.

You're busy enough running your properties. It's an around-the-clock job, so when you're getting that much needed shut eye, you don't want to be worrying about catching the local package thief or supervising the installation of more cameras. Protecting your residents and staff is a 24/7 responsibility, but that doesn't mean you need to pull all-nighters to keep the community safe.

Common industry growing pains

You probably already have a camera system installed. But how complex is it? How long does it take to train a new security team member on running it? And most importantly, what can it do?

If an incident occurs outside of regular working hours (which is probably the case), it likely goes undetected or there is a delayed response, until footage is checked the next morning or days later. Any delay can put residents, staff and visitors at risk. Reactive approaches are "too late" approaches.

Does this hit a little too close to home? This is the moment to consider a new solution...

- 1. That works with your existing video and surveillance hardware.
- 2. That enhances already-installed readers, sensors, and cameras with smart technology
- 3. That is accessible to non security professionals on staff.
- 4. And delivers AI analytics to provide a 24/7, proactive, cloud-managed solution

Maybe it's time to take a look at Ava.

The Ava Solution

Ava is here to upgrade your existing security, so you get more done with less work. It includes:

Proactive security

Machine-learning video analytics captures events as they happen so that the next time a thief tries to smash a car window, you...

Get real-time alerts

Say a door, for instance, is propped open or a card-reader fails. A map view shows the location and video feed in real-time so you...

Finds things fast

Real-time forensic searches across all property locations reduces the burden on security teams and staff alike, transforming your system administration to...

Modern remote management

Now, operators can monitor access control and physical security events remotely from any web browser or device, providing true 24/7 visibility—critical in the cities that never sleep. Ava helps your existing solution become...

Scalable

One web interface for unlimited deployments. Manage a camera system in Norway while you sip mai tais in Hawaii. In fact, we encourage it. And did we mention that Ava is entirely...

Open

Organizations can integrate Ava's breakthrough video management system, Ava Aware, with the existing infrastructure to transform your current cameras into smart cameras.

Plus, Ava Aware integrates seamlessly with many access control solutions to provide day and night monitoring of entries and exits.

Monitor resident flow

Improved resident safety

Real Talk

Seconds matter when protecting your community. Safety, security, and the overall well-being of residents is the number one priority. Ava video security solutions grants properties and communities the ability to investigate incidents quickly. The simplicity of the system meant anyone on staff can jump in and resolve an issue—not just your trained security personnel.

Be less reactive and instead empower your teams to be proactively secure, so the communities you manage stay safe.
